General instructions:

Each box consists of:

- a circle/square for the top and a strip with a zigzag glue tab that determines the height of the lid
- a smaller circle /square for the bottom and a strip with zigzag glue tab (to form the base of the cylinder/base) that determines the height of the box.

Top and bottom of the box:

Die cut two large basic circles/squares (top of the lid) and two small circles/squares (bottom of the base) from white velvet card. Die cut the large basic circle/square also 1x from design paper and adhere to the top of the lid.

Making the base:

Determine the height of the cylinder/base of the box. Add 1.3 cm if the cutting die with the small zigzag is being used, or 1.8 cm if the large zigzag is being used. Hand cut the strip from white velvet card in the height needed. Then die cut the zigzag glue tab (LR0674) along one long side of the strip (the cutting die can be shifted). Fold the zigzag glue tab over.

Attention: use craft tape at the beginning and end of the die, so that it does not shift while die cutting the zigzag glue tab!

Adhere strong double-sided tape to the edge of the smaller circle/square (bottom of the box) and adhere the zigzag glue tab. Then adhere the second circle/square of the exact size on top for a neat finish.

Making the lid:

Cut a few 29.7 x 2 cm strips from white velvet card to line the inside of the lid if the clearance is too wide.
